About Serle Court

Serle Court is a set of barristers' chambers offering genuine expertise across a broad range of chancery and commercial disciplines. We cover the whole range of 'business' law, from offshore litigation about the world's largest companies to domestic advice on probate matters for both private and professional clients at home and abroad. We are applauded for handling 'matters of the greatest worth and complexity'. Widely recognised as one of the top sets at the English Bar, members of chambers are recommended in 11 practice areas by Chambers and Partners UK and 19 practice areas by The Legal 500.

We are one of the largest commercial chancery sets, with 71 members, including 27 silks, so we are well placed to offer the right barrister or team for each case. Our Head of Chambers is Elizabeth Jones QC. She and all our barristers and staff are committed to providing exceptional service recognised regularly in the directories and awards ceremonies. We have a strong and growing reputation as one of the leading sets of chambers for banking and financial services litigation. Several members of Serle Court are ranked in the legal directories as leading practitioners in this area. Our members have participated (sometimes on opposing sides) in some of the main banking and financial services cases of recent years, including the RBS Rights Issue Litigation, the Bank Charges Litigation, cases arising out of the collapse of Lehman Brothers and many mis-selling cases, including JP Morgan Chase v Springwell Navigation Corp. Members of Serle Court act both for and against banks and financial services companies and have experience in a wide range of banking transactions, instruments and types of dispute. Our banking and financial services clients often appreciate our ability to couple expertise in those fields with expertise in other areas that may be relevant, such as insolvency, trusts, regulatory issues and fraud/asset recovery.

Speaker

Professor Suzanne Rab

Professor Suzanne Rab is a barrister specialising in competition law and economic regulation at Serle Chambers in London. Suzanne has wide experience advising on UK and EU regulation and competition law in the banking and wider financial services sector.

Suzanne's work in the financial services and banking sector has involved representations in relation to sector regulation, mergers, behavioural matters, market investigations and State aid/subsidy control. She has advised the UK Payment Systems Regulator (PSR), a subsidiary of the UK Financial Conduct Authority (FCA), on its approach to regulation of the UK payments sector. She also advised the procedural officer on the FCA's first ever competition law infringement decision. She also advised the FCA on implementation of the GDPR and EU withdrawal.

Suzanne has advised on the main market and sector investigations into the banking sector at the UK and EU level over the last two decades, including advising General Electric on the first ever market investigation in the UK (into store cards and insurance) and Halifax Bank of Scotland on the (then) UK Competition Commission investigation into Payment Protection Insurance.

In the area of abuse of dominance she has advised Dow Jones on the European Commission's investigation into Reuters Instruments Codes (RICs) which focused on exclusionary practices in relation to the distribution platform for financial information.

Prior to her transfer to the Bar Suzanne was a director in the economics and strategy practice of PricewaterhouseCoopers. She is an expert panel member of the UK Regulators Network.

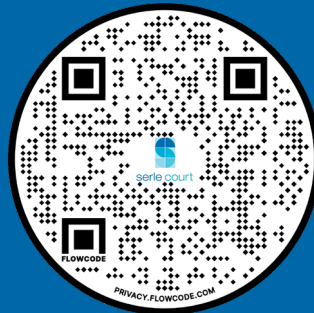

"A natural problem solver – her financial services and broader regulatory knowledge is extremely strong." (The Legal 500, 2020).
