Practice Overview

Brigitte Lindner has worked in copyright for over 30 years. She specialises in international, European and comparative copyright and related rights law and assists legal professionals around the world, including in-house lawyers, in copyright matters with a foreign element. Brigitte provides guidance on copyright policy, contracts and litigation strategies in cross-border situations, prepares legal opinions on specific copyright and related rights aspects and compiles larger studies and reports based on a comparative law approach. Her advisory work extends to aspects of human rights and private international law as they relate to copyright. Brigitte also accepts appointments as arbitrator and expert in international copyright disputes.

Dual qualified in England & Wales and in Germany, Brigitte has extensive practical experience in both civil and common law traditions which she gathered in private practice in France, Germany and the UK as well as in her former role as Legal Adviser to the International Federation of the Phonographic Industry in London. She is conversant with the law-making process at both international and EU levels and experienced in legislative drafting. Her working languages are English, French and German.

A passionate advocate of education and learning, Brigitte also provides tailor-made training and capacity-building in the field of copyright and related rights and has contributed to technical assistance projects organized by various bodies, including the UN and the EU.
